ABOUT

A ONE-PERSON TYING BENCH.

Trout Tricks is a Colorado-based fly tier specializing in chironomids, balanced leeches, scuds, and stillwater-specific patterns. Every fly is tied to order on 2x heavy wire — the gauge that holds up to a trophy cutbow's run without straightening.

Trout Tricks is a hand-tied stillwater fly tier based in Fairmount, Colorado, founded by Thomas Frank. Every pattern — chironomids, balanced leeches, scuds, and a handful of signature top-secret designs — is tied to order on 2x heavy wire hooks, the gauge that survives a trophy cutbow's run without straightening. The tier ships nationwide and offers free local pickup in the Denver metro.

The Trout Tricks lineup is built around the working trophy stillwaters of Colorado and southern Wyoming: Antero Reservoir (closed 2026 for drought-driven drawdown), Spinney Mountain, 11 Mile Reservoir, Delaney Buttes, Lake John, and the North Platte chain. Patterns are designed around the depth-and-presentation problems those waters actually pose — not the highlight-reel content of national fly catalogs.

In 2026, Trout Tricks launched The Drop — a paid bi-weekly mastermind membership for serious Colorado stillwater anglers. Members pool real-time intel: conditions, food sources, depth columns, rigs that aren't earning. Open-floor mastermind, not webinar. Founding 10 members lock in $20/mo for life.

Trout Tricks is built around an explicit ethics framing: spawn timing, conditions, and technique are public; spawn locations and GPS-tagged hot spots are not.

THOMAS FRANK

HAND-TIED • FAIRMOUNT, CO

Stillwater-first tier. Refined an indicator-based, balanced-fly system on the South Park rotation (Antero, Spinney Mountain, 11 Mile) and North Park (Delaney Buttes, Lake John), plus the Wyoming

North Platte chain. Every pattern in the lineup earned its slot by sticking trophy fish – not by looking good in a fly bin.

Specialty: indicator stillwater systems, balanced leeches, chironomids

Rotation: Antero · Spinney · 11 Mile · Delaney · Lake John

Permits: CO Parks & Wildlife · USFS · BLM

Guided trip model: W-2 employee (not subcontractor)

"Website is easy to navigate and no better flies on the market. High quality and worth the money."

— TANNER P.

"I love how these flies are tied on 2x wire hooks. You don't have to worry about losing trophy trout — these hooks don't bend out."

— DUSTIN H.

"Best quality flies I have ever seen. Unique designs that catch fish."

— PETER F.

"Great craftsmanship, strong hooks and durable. I've caught bass and trout with these flies."

— MARK R.

100 WORDS · ABOUT-THE-BRAND PANEL

100W

Trout Tricks is a Colorado-based fly tier specializing in chironomids, balanced leeches, scuds, and stillwater-specific patterns. Founder Thomas Frank ties every fly to order at the Fairmount, CO tying bench on 2x heavy hooks — the gauge that holds up to a 24-inch cutbow without straightening. The tier sits inside a small but serious Colorado stillwater scene: Antero, Spinney Mountain, 11 Mile, Delaney Buttes, Lake John, and the Wyoming North Platte chain. In 2026 Trout Tricks launched The Drop, a paid bi-weekly mastermind for serious CO stillwater anglers who want real-time intel, not generic YouTube.
